

A great idea for a bridal shower

Shopping for bridal lingerie is always an exciting time but add in a room full of your closet friends and a bottle of champagne and you are certainly in for a lot of fun!

UnderCoverWear give brides-to-be the option of hosting their very own lingerie and fashion party in the comfort of their own home.

Regional manager Cristine Ferri said it is a great option for a bridal shower as the bride-to-be receives fabulous gifts based on the sales and bookings made during the party and she can receive many garments for free.

When booking a party you have the choice of three settings – romantic, fun or naughty, depending on the environment you want to create.

“One thing is for sure we always have plenty of fun!” Cristine said.

“We play games and the guests can model the range. Everyone has a great time.”

UnderCoverWear has something special for every bride such as gorgeous, sexy lingerie to wear on the wedding night or something beautiful to take on the honeymoon.

The UnderCoverWear range extends much further than just lingerie as they have a superior women’s fashion line including swimwear and a small range of items for men and children. The range features high quality garments at very reasonable prices.

“We have a fantastic new winter catalogue out now,” Cristine said. “The great thing about our range is that it caters for everyone – all tastes, all ages and all body shapes. The bra sizes range from 10A to 22E and most of the lingerie and fashion goes from sizes 6 to 28.”

UnderCoverWear supports the Breast Cancer Support Services and the Make-a-Wish Foundation. They also do great fundraising and have gift vouchers available.

The business is expanding and UnderCoverWear is looking for extra sales consultants to join the team. July is the month that you can start your new career for half price – conditions apply. There are no joining fees.
